As part of the Institute's Collective Redress programme, this highly anticipated seminar focusses on securities litigation from a comparative perspective, bringing together leading academics and counsel involved in recent high-profile cases, and analysing the global phenomenon of damages claims arising from breaches of securities legislation.

This is currently a hot topic as such litigation is being brought in a number of high-profile cases. Examples include: a claim against RBS by institutional investors including the RBS Shareholder Action Group, and a similar case against Volkswagen due to investor losses stemming from the recent emissions scandal.

The event will be followed by a drinks reception.
